> AllEvents Selfie Mirror Booth

1

It is a fun event tech gadget and it is the fastest way to engage and entertain attendees.

2

It can be branded to suit the theme of your event as well.

3

Increase online brand awareness and dominate social media in a fun way.

4

Get people to take pictures and do live uploads about your event on their personal social media accounts.

5

Every picture taken will carry your event name, theme, and a dedicated hashtag (for social media), as well as your social media handles.

6

Collate database of all attendees creatively which can be used to get analysis of the demography of the attendees and know how to better prepare for your next event

7

You can also use this collated database to send thank you email after the event.

8

Keep attendees talking about your event even after the event (with printed copies of pictures taken).

9

These pictures would be branded with your event name, theme, and a dedicated hashtag. With this you have given attendees a stand-out and memorable topic to talk about, this is also an indirect form of words-of-mouth advertising. And word-of-mouth advertising spreads like wild fire.
